YOUNG GEORGE L. PERKINS WAS LOVED AT HIS SCHOOL

The following is from the Exonian, the school paper of the Phillips Exeter Academy, which George L. Perkins of Ogden was attending when he was stricken with his fatal illness:

"The death of George L. Perkins comes as a great shock to those who were made aware that his condition was so serious. The premature taking away of one of such promise, just at the culmination of a successful school career, strikes home to his scores of friends as the saddest and most bitter of blows. His engaging personality, his ever unassuming lovable nature, his high character, and his purposeful life, all seem only to emphasize the untimeliness of his decease and to deepen the universal expression of regret. The abrupt termination of such a self-sacrificing nature is more than a passing misfortune."

"In his first year he showed particular promise in track work, but had to leave the team afterwards on account of his heart. He was, at the time he was stricken with his last illness, class secretary, candidate for class-day poet, president of the Deutscher Verein, member of the Mandolin club, and dormitory president."

RESOLUTIONS

BAR ASSOCIATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO JUDGE HENDERSON.

High Character of Deceased Attested to by His Associates—Court Adjourns Out of Respect.

In open court this morning the resolutions of respect to the memory of Judge Henry P. Henderson were presented by C. C. Richards, who, addressing the court, said:

"May it please the court: At the request of the president of the Bar Association and in behalf of the association, I present to the court the set of resolutions which have just been unanimously adopted by the Bar Association:

"Whereas, death has taken from our ranks our friend and brother, the Honorable Henry Perry Henderson, one of the noblest and worthiest members of the bar of this state, and who, at one time, was Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah, under appointment by the President, and as such was the Presiding Judge of this District; and

"Whereas, Judge Henderson was well known in all parts of Utah as an able, honest and sincere man, into whose hands, no suitor ever feared to commit his cause and his rights. He could not be swerved from the path of rectitude, either on the bench or at the bar. He was always the firm friend of the right; ever public spirited, living close to the people and looking to their best interests. He was therefore a citizen in whose death we lose a friend in whom all could confide; and

"Whereas, in the loss of so worthy a man, lawyer and judge, the members of the bar of this county and district desire to publicly express their high appreciation, esteem and respect, for him as well as sympathy for his widow and relatives; therefore

"It is resolved by the members of the bar of the Second Judicial District of the State of Utah, that we are deeply grieved at the loss of Judge Henry P. Henderson; that we honor and admired him in his lifetime and desire to say that his memory is dear to all of us, both as lawyers and as citizens;

"Resolved, That our sincere sympathy be extended to the widow and relatives of our departed brother in the midst of their sorrow; that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the District court with a request that the same be spread upon the minutes of the court, and that a copy be sent to the widow of the deceased."

"Now, may it please the court, by direction of the Bar Association, I have the honor to move that out of respect to the memory of this, our departed friend and brother, that this court be now adjourned for the day. The Court: "Of course, gentlemen, you are aware that, as is the case with the majority of the younger members of the profession, my personal acquaintance with Judge Henderson was limited, but it has been my duty and my pleasure to examine his judicial record which he made, not alone as the judge of this court, but as the judge of the supreme court and I am enabled therefore to concur in all that has been said of Judge Henderson. It is, therefore, my duty and my pleasure to accede to the wishes of the Bar Association of this district and to order that these resolutions which have been prepared by the Bar Association shall be spread upon the minutes of this court, and that, as a further mark of respect to the memory of Judge Henderson, this court shall now stand adjourned until Monday morning."

"Then the further order of the court will be that the court will stand adjourned out of respect to the memory of Judge Henderson until Monday morning at ten o'clock."

SUPT. MANSON RETURNS
FROM THE COAST

Superintendent E. C. Manson of the Salt Lake division of the Southern Pacific arrived from San Francisco this morning where he had been to attend a meeting of the directors of the Central Pacific company. He made the long trip in record time, leaving Ogden Tuesday evening and spending twenty-four hours in the earthquake metropolis.

Mr. Manson says San Francisco is shooting right ahead and building operations extend in every direction and all over the city. The buildings are more substantial than ever before and there is a disposition on the part of architects to avoid piercing the clouds with ridiculous skyscrapers when there is plenty of ground for sensible building purposes.

NEW FREIGHT
HOUSE

AWAITING THE CANCELLING OF WAREHOUSE SITE LEASE.

Reported That Kruttschnitt Has Authorized Bancroft to Proceed With the Improvements.

It is now current rumor in local railroad circles that Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president and director of maintenance of the Harriman system, has authorized General Manager Bancroft to proceed with the erection of the new $100,000 freight depot and other important improvements at Ogden as soon as cancellation of certain leases for the site of the new depot can be secured at what Mr. Bancroft considers reasonable terms. These leases are now held by the Boyle Furniture company, Scowcroft & Sons' company and Fred J. Kiesel.

It is understood that satisfactory arrangements have been perfected with the Boyle and Scowcroft people and that negotiations are now pending with Mr. Kiesel whereby his lease will be surrendered to Harriman representatives for a certain substantial financial consideration and important concessions to Kiesel warehouse interests at Montpelier, Ontario and Pocatello.

Railroad officials are hopeful that a satisfactory settlement will be made during the next week, or two in order that elaborate arrangements may be perfected to commence extensive improvements in this city by July 1, the first month of the new railroad year. The plans approved and the new work authorized by Mr. Kruttschnitt calls for the expenditure of nearly $200,000 in Ogden this year, by the Harriman management, and in order to accomplish what is proposed this year, work must begin before the season advances much further.

TEMPERANCE IN CACHE.

Logan, June 9.—The temperance question is to be taken up here again. After the failure of the last legislative session to pass any temperance legislation a proposition was sprung here to call the county and city authorities together and induce them to refuse to issue any more liquor licenses, but for a time this plan was abandoned. It has been revived, however, by a call issued by the county commissioners for a meeting to be held here on Saturday, June 19, at which all the mayors and councils of the cities of Cache, all town boards and presiding officers of the three stakes are expected to be present. The plan is to effect an agreement between all the officials to close the saloons by refusing to grant another license after a certain date to be selected. President J. E. Cardon of the Cache stake and Bishop B. G. Thatcher of this city asked the commissioners to call the meeting and the request was at once granted.

Billy Reed, a well known character of this city, but who has been absent in Idaho for some time past, landed in town yesterday with a bad case of smallpox. He came from Pocatello, and it is believed that he was shipped out after it was known that he had the disease, as he was riding on a pass. He has exposed a great many people and the local authorities are hustling to prevent the spread of the malady.

CALLAHAN IS SENTENCED

GIVEN TWENTY DAYS IN WHICH TO REST.

He Had Been Playing Upon the Sympathies of the Charitable People of Five Points.

The morning grind of police court contained a variety of cases, including an alleged laundry thief, two beggars, several drunks and vagrants and one case of interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duties.

William Callahan, the beggar who was arrested by Officer Burk in the vicinity of Five Points, Thursday, and who had been soliciting alms on the strength of an alleged sore arm, will have twenty days in which to recover the use of the member.

Callahan appeared in court with his arm in a sling and apparently disabled for life. The judge, however, sternly informed him that his arm had been pronounced perfectly healthy by the city physician and that twenty days on the rock pile would be about all. Callahan had, at some time, been burned on the forearm which left an ugly scar. Carefully smearing the scar with vaseline and iodine and placing it in a sling, Callahan was able to work upon the sympathies of housewives.

James Delano, a companion of Callahan's, pleaded not guilty to mendacity. Officer Burk explained that the defendant was assisting Callahan in spending the nickels he secured by begging, and that the pair were rapidly acquiring a good-sized jag when apprehended. The court questioned the prisoner and, despite the latter's assertions that he did not know Callahan was begging, sentenced him to the rock pile.

Thomas Joyce was arraigned on the charge of drunkenness. The prisoner admitted that he had been "intoxicated" but that this was his first offense. The court gave him five days on the chain gang for "intoxication."

Harry Phillips was charged with mendacity. The clerk explained that the term meant begging, whereupon the defendant entered a plea of not guilty and the case was postponed until the arresting officer could be present.

George Smith, who afterward proved to be John Burns, from the county jail, pleaded guilty of vagrancy and was given 10 days.

MRS. GOULD'S HAZY
MEMORY BRINGS

FROM JUDGE DOWLING WHO IS HEARING SUIT.

After Tilt Between Lawyers the Judge Says Witness Had Given Unnecessary Trouble.

New York, June 11.—What appeared to be the hazy memory of Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould on this, the second day of her testimony in cross examination, brought a rebuke from Justice Dowling, who is hearing her suit for separation against her husband, Howard Gould. There was a tilt between lawyers Delancey Nicoll for the defense and Clarence J. Shearn for Mrs. Gould.

"Please try to be polite," Mr. Shearn cautioned Mr. Nicoll, when the latter asked the witness a question sharply.

"Oh, I am sick of trying to be polite. I've been polite all day and Mrs. Gould won't answer a straight question," retorted Mr. Nicoll.

"Yes, the witness has given much unnecessary trouble," the justice interrupted.

Mrs. Gould leaned forward eagerly at this point to meet the next question, but the clock struck four and adjournment was taken until tomorrow, with the likelihood that that she will remain on the stand throughout the day.

Once Mrs. Gould apologized for her inability to tell whether certain restaurant checks were hers or not, saying she was not interested in knowing how her husband spent his money. Again she could not tell whether a diamond pendant valued at $13,300 had been bought by her or by her husband "for another."

Mr. Nicoll protested vigorously against this insinuation, and Justice Dowling, with some asperity, ordered it stricken from the record.

The amounts of assorted jewelry, tailors', costumers' and boot maker bills continue to make the spectacle gasp and stare. The articles purchased included the pearl rope which the witness wore yesterday and today, listed at $27,000; the diamond pendant at $13,300; a diamond chain at $22,000; a diamond diadem at $2,000, and a sapphire ring at $600. Such little things as $500 worth silk stockings at a time, or $1,528 shoes, were trivial by comparison. Five tailormade suits were ordered, a cost of $5,507.

"What was the total amount of articles you purchased on Mr. Gould's credit in 1907?" began Mr. Nicoll, soon as order was called.

"I couldn't tell you," was the reply. "I have never seen all of the bills." "Starting on January 1, 1907, I did purchase a large amount of goods in his name?"

"Yes."

"That continued until 1907, or until Mr. Gould made a voluntary payment of about $2,000 a month?"

"I don't know about the time, less that was the time Mr. Gould visited he would not be responsible or debts contracted by me," replied the witness.

Mrs. Gould identified a letter which had passed between counsel for both sides. It was dated November 1907, and stated that Mrs. Gould had run up $79,773.51 worth of bills in that year.

"I have not the slightest idea of the correctness of these bills," declared Mrs. Gould.

"There were bills without end—for finery, jewels, dresses, lingerie and gifts for servants."

In striking contrast to this list of luxuries was Mrs. Gould's testimony that at times at Castle Gould she was actually without provisions.

"You told Mr. Shearn that you were at Castle Gould it was possible for you to have any provisions sent to the house. What provisions do you speak of?" she was asked.

"From the time when Mr. Gould left, on July 16, up to August of next year, when I left for the time—when I was really forced leave," was the reply.

"Are you prepared to swear that within this period you were not supplied with the necessities?"

"I am prepared to swear," was her firm answer.
